2007-2008: Beyond Boundaries

Has there ever been a better time to be a student in Alberta? Has there ever been a time when inspiration and leadership were not essential to building a better world? By attending the University of Alberta, you include yourself in a community of people who want to do well in and for the world. It is my hope that while you study here you will be inspired by this vibrant community of world-class academics and students who come together from Alberta, Canada and every corner of the globe. I have no doubt that many of you will, in turn, inspire us. And so, I welcome you wholeheartedly to the University of Alberta, one of the top 100 research and teaching universities in the world.

The U of A is a multi-campus university that will provide you with many opportunities to expand your experience and to engage actively with the world. Our professors are renowned for their excellence in teaching and research, which has direct and immediate impact upon every sector of society. I invite you to take advantage of the countless opportunities that await you at the University of Alberta and the knowledge and experiences that are available beyond the walls of our buildings. Our classrooms are gateways for you to develop your potential and as such they have no boundaries.

At the U of A we are committed to making the world a better place. And you are a part of our collective journey towards that end. It is my sincere hope that this part of your journey is a most exciting one and that your engagement with higher learning and the University of Alberta will last your entire lifetime.

In the 2007-2008 academic year, the University of Alberta will reach its Centenary and we will be reflecting upon the culmination of 100 years of teaching and research and the profound impact we have made on our community and the world. We do so with the daily evidence that we are not only 100 years old, but that we are ever young. Each cohort of new students pushes us to stretch beyond the borders of what we know and what we used to be. This year, as we begin our contribution to another century, I invite you to reach beyond what you thought you could. I dare you to dream. I invite you to inspire.

Indira V Samarasekera, OC
President and Vice-Chancellor

Important Notice

By the act of registering for a course or a course of study, each student at the University of Alberta agrees to observe and be bound by the terms of this notice, and the terms, conditions, academic standards, rules, regulations, policies, and codes of behavior contained or referenced in the Calendar. Therefore, it is the student’s responsibility to make himself or herself aware of the contents of the Calendar.

The Calendar sets forth the intention of the University at the time the Calendar was prepared. While the University of Alberta makes reasonable efforts to ensure that the content of the Calendar is accurate, the University of Alberta reserves the right, subject to the authority of General Faculties Council, to make whatever changes it considers necessary to the information referenced in the Calendar or referenced in other documents relating to admission and registration including, but is not limited to, the elimination of or changes to courses, programs, organizational structure, tuition and fees, entrance standards, academic standards, degree requirements, University policies, regulations, and rules. All of the changes referred to above may be made by the University without notice to students or prospective students, although the University of Alberta shall make reasonable efforts to provide notice of such changes to students as soon as practicable. The University is not liable to anyone who may suffer any loss or damages of any type arising from such changes including any loss or damages arising from the interruption of academic activities.
Our Global Campus

The University of Alberta is a dynamic international community with over 2500 international students from over 100 countries studying in graduate and undergraduate programs. Another 1300 students are welcomed each year to study in the English as a Second Language program.

An International Experience Every Day

University of Alberta International House is more than just a residence. Students from Canada and around the world gather under one roof to live, eat and work together, to learn more about one another and the world in which they live, while pursuing their own personal goals.
your Education

Study Abroad
Add an international experience to your degree by participating in a term, year or summer abroad. Gain international work experience by participating in an internship, practicum or research placement overseas. Choose from more than 100 opportunities in over 35 countries. This is your chance to experience a different culture first-hand, while working toward your University of Alberta degree.

A Global Education
Don’t miss International Week, the largest annual extra-curricular educational experience on campus. With over 50 events, I-Week will challenge your understanding of our global interdependence. Seminars hosted throughout the year are designed to raise awareness of the global issues that affect our lives.
